

- v From the Editor
Donald A. Yerxa

Articles

- 1 The Limits of Historical Inquiry: A Critique of Oliver O'Donovan's Political Concepts
Based on the Work of Herbert Butterfield
Phillip D. Fox
- 23 Dear Mr. Calles: U.S. Protestant Interpretations of the Cristero War and the Moral Art of History
Jason H. Dormady
- 39 Billy Graham's Northwestern Years (1948–1952) and Emerging Evangelical and Fundamentalist
Identities
Greg Rosauer

Religious Sources Roundtable

- 55 To Believe or Not to Believe: An Introduction
D. G. Hart
- 57 Margaret Mead and the Challenges of Interpreting Religious Sources
Elesha Coffman
- 62 Faith in Context: Using Religious Sources to Teach Historical Thinking
Karen Johnson
- 67 A Call for Moderating Circumspection
Miles Smith
- 72 The Limits of Religious Sources
Richard M. Gamble
- 77 When to Believe and When Not
Rick Kennedy

Special Interview Section

- 82 Introduction
- 82 Interview with John Wilson
- 86 Interview with Wilfred M. McClay
- 95 Interview with William R. Shea

Reflections

- 103 The “Kindling of Live Hopes”: Eschatological Historiography in Jürgen Moltmann’s 1965 Theology of Hope
Lynne W. Hinojosa
- 116 A Lock of Hair, a Ruined Cabin, and a Party with Hitler: The Ethics of Communing with Dead People We Come to Love
John D. Wilsey

Featured Review

- 126 Sustaining the Divine in Mexico Tenochtitlan: Nahuas and Catholicism, 1523–1700. By Jonathan Truitt
Reviewed by Verónica A. Gutiérrez